

Cloudreach Powers Secure Cloud Migration with Alert Logic

Cloudreach is a leading cloud services company with a mission to drive extraordinary value for its customers through successful cloud transformation. With more than 10 years of cloud native experience, Cloudreach has built a depth and breadth of expertise in cloud technologies and their application to business. Born in the cloud, the company offers an end-to-end suite of cloud services for enterprise and mid-sized customers.

Cloudreach engaged Alert Logic to deliver to its customers comprehensively managed detection and response (MDR) cybersecurity solutions, streamlined compliance, enhanced visibility, bolstered productivity, and improved team efficiency.

The Challenge

AN EXPANDING CUSTOMER BASE INCREASED A SMALL TEAM'S SECURITY RESPONSIBILITIES

From assessment to execution, Cloudreach supports customers on various platforms throughout their cloud migration journeys. This entails a range of data center processes including lift-and-shift migration transitioning from a data center to a public cloud, as well as cloud infrastructure modernization and management. As customers leverage the flexibility and agility of the cloud, their security needs evolve, making reliable protection a top concern.

When Antoine Noel started as a Security Operations Leader at Cloudreach, he managed cloud security for all customers. As he monitored their cloud environments through manual, time-consuming processes, Antoine quickly noted that without the proper tooling, his team lacked the visibility to ensure reliable data protection and compliance. As with many IT managers at growing companies, he was also handling a variety of other in-house and client-focused administrative activities. He could not solely focus on security and needed a reliable, time-saving solution that could enhance team efficiency.

The Solution

ENHANCED EFFICIENCY, BUILT-IN COMPLIANCE, AND REDUCED DEPLOYMENT TIME

Cloudreach's earliest customer base emanated from a variety of industries in the European and U.S. markets. In pursuit of a reliable cybersecurity solution that could suit the diverse cloud environments of customers, Cloudreach chose Alert Logic — providing an easy-to-manage, comprehensive, native cloud MDR solution.

As Antoine managed his other responsibilities, customers' environments remained monitored and protected around the clock by Alert Logic. Their purpose-built technology and team of security experts are always watching, filtering out noise and prioritizing what to do next. This allowed the Cloudreach team to shift their focus to more critical tasks and increase their productivity. "It was quite complicated having to juggle everything myself. Alert Logic makes life much easier. Once you deploy it, you can almost forget about it...and that is very rare," said Antoine who is now Chief Information Security Officer.

Cloudreach's collaboration with Alert Logic continues after four years of customer growth and satisfaction while Alert Logic's depth of expertise also continues to distinguish it in the marketplace. In addition to a history of consistent success, Antoine attributes Cloudreach's loyalty to the variety of timesaving Alert Logic capabilities, including:

- Streamlined, easy-to-navigate installation process
- Automation of routine management functions
- Consistent reliability

Cloudreach achieved significant time savings in deploying Alert Logic. Antoine elaborated, "With Alert Logic, we have a cybersecurity solution that consistently works. Solution deployment is also quick and can be done in a matter of minutes."

Why Alert Logic?

Cloudreach has grown into an industry leader with a reputation for reliability in cloud planning, building, and optimization, with Alert Logic as a trusted supplier of comprehensive MDR cybersecurity services. These solutions provide continuous security management for the entire Cloudreach IT stack including:

- Log management
- Network management
- Web app management

Antoine believes the most significant aspect of Alert Logic's impact is its persistent commitment to delivering unrivaled security value. "I can tell you what keeps us committed to Alert Logic," he declared, "They continuously make updates and improvements to make our everyday lives easier, even though we're still using the same product! I don't think I can say that about any other tool we use."

"With Alert Logic, we have a cybersecurity solution that consistently works. Solution deployment is also quick and can be done in a matter of minutes."
